

“Our Patients Love This Publication. They Ask For It By Name.”

John C. Fuller, UW Cancer Center, Appleton, Wisconsin

MORE TESTIMONIALS FROM THE FRONT LINE OF CANCER

We knew there was a need for a comprehensive, up-to-date guide to cancer treatment and facilities, but the response from both patients and health care professionals on the front line of cancer has been overwhelming and very gratifying. Here's a sampling of the positive response generated by the 2007 edition of Patient Resource – A Cancer Treatment and Facilities Guide for Patients and Their Families.

CANCER SURVIVORS

“I just found your wonderful magazine while waiting for my radiation treatment for BC and I just had to write you and thank you for such wonderful info. It's got every resource available that I need and every website (and more) that can be useful to me. I have already started exploring some of these websites and I find them so useful and helpful. I also love the fact that there is very little advertising and what little there is are ALSO very useful, BUT clearly marked as such, advertisements.

Thank you and I pray you are doing well now. It's people like you that make a difference to people like me. Something I read in your magazine that I am adopting for myself: Cancer is a word, not a sentence...THANK YOU!”

Susan Woods

“When I was diagnosed with breast cancer, I could not find a single source of information that could help me figure out how to navigate the complex treatment decisions I was forced to make. I am so pleased to see that Patient Resource has filled that void.”

Lori Lober
Founder, Touched By Cancer Foundation
7-year, Stage IV Cancer Survivor

“I saw the magazine today. You must be very proud as I believe it to be exceptional. I wish it had been available for me two years ago!”

Gayden Carruth
Retired Superintendent, Park Hill School District
Cancer Survivor

“I just received my copy today and reading it from cover to cover, I found that it is wonderful. As an ovarian cancer survivor, this has a wealth of information which is invaluable. It's also very easy to use. Thanks so much for putting this out.”

“I just read your new publication and I think it’s great—just what someone would need when they’re first diagnosed with cancer. I think the survivor stories are an important part of why I like it. They’re both realistic and hopeful. I think you’re doing something very important and very good in publishing the Patient Resource.”

Ellen Bodine
Relative of Cancer Patient
Lenexa, Kansas

“I saw your magazine for the first time yesterday and am VERY impressed. I am a cancer survivor and your magazine is greatly needed.”

"Not only does your publication list the various cancer centers, but it has an overview on many of the topics that new cancer patients want to know about to help them feel like an active member of the team. By listing the cancer centers patients have the opportunity to transfer care to where they have family support.

I give your magazine to all of our new patients and do not wait for them to take it since there are many magazines and they will not realize yours is where they need to begin."

"I first looked through the Patient Resource magazine in our American Cancer Society Cancer Resource Center at Holzer Center for Cancer Care in Gallipolis, Ohio where I volunteer twice a month. As a retired Registered Nurse and cancer survivor I felt immediate relief to know that at last there was a resource that had pertinent information easily found. As well, each cancer article was accompanied with the story of a survivor of that type with further information and Web sites for more answers.

It is the best "In A Nutshell" resource I've seen. Thank you!"
